

CAROSAI SAYS

Congratulations

Mr. Dean Evanson, Auditor General of Antigua and Barbuda, has been elected to the External Board of Auditors of the Organization of American States (OAS). Sir Ronald Sanders, Antigua and Barbuda's Ambassador to the OAS, nominated and supported Mr. Evanson for the post. The External Board of Auditors meets four times a year at the OAS headquarters to review the audit of all aspects of the OAS and to give overall direction to the external auditors. Antigua and Barbuda is the only small state on the External Board of Auditors.

In welcoming Evanson's election to the external auditing board of the thirty-four member hemispheric organisation, Ambassador Sanders said: "I welcome this election which demonstrates that small states have the right and the capacity to play a role in the accountability of international organisations. The government of Antigua and Barbuda, has been fighting for our rightful recognition and we will continue to do so".

(Full story available at: <https://www.kaieteurnewsonline.com/2019/12/20/antigua-elected-to-oas-external-board-of-auditors/>)